Customer Update – COVID-19 Pandemic

Cetylite products used in healthcare settings continue to be manufactured and available at this time. We want to reassure you that the safety of our customers and our employees, as well as the general population, are our top priority.

Cetylite is following direction from international health organizations and local government and we are actively monitoring the situation through a network of external resources that provide us real-time information.

Please let us know if you have any questions or concerns.
